

TESTIMONIALS

When I came to Spaulding it was like, wow, this is heaven compared to the other foster care agencies I went to. It was like, the other ones you didn't feel loved, it was like here's another kid, lets do some paper work, put it on the computer, and send her off. I felt like a family, like a part of Spaulding at Spaulding. Everyone knew my name. They actually ask questions, like how's school going? Can we do anything for you? They did a lot for me, like send me to a two week camp \ to Nova Scotia. I loved it!

I want to tell you how I met Robert. He was just coming back into Spaulding from another foster home. He was standing next to the wall in the lobby. So I talked to him. I said, honey what's wrong ? He was mad looking. So I said, "sweetheart you've tried it your way for a long time. Why don't you try it someone else's way. It may work for you". Before I could come home, I got a call from Spaulding. This young man wanted to come to my home.

I got a message from a social worker at a place called Spaulding for Children about Jared's adoption. We finally found an organization,/a person that puts a child as a priority. It wasn't about us or about them; it was about Jared trying to get adopted.

Spaulding takes the time to work more with families, the foster families, the birth families, as well as with the children. When workers become involved, they become invested, and it's not just another child on their caseload, it's a person, it's a family, it's a situation that they want to work with and get a good outcome for everyone involved.
